Guidebook and Ordnance Survey map booklet to the 135km (84 mile) Hadrian's Wall Path National Trail, running the length of the Roman Wall from Bowness-on-Solway in Cumbria to Wallsend, Newcastle. The trail typically takes a week to walk, and is suitable for beginners, as well as walkers with greater experience.

- The route is described both west to east and east to west
- Clear step-by-step route descriptions in the guide are illustrated by 1:100,000 OS map extracts
- Comes with a separate map booklet of 1:25,000 scale OS maps showing the full route
- Guidebook features an extension through Newcastle to South Shields on the east coast
- Contains a wealth of information on the history of the Wall, and a range of practical information for walkers, from accommodation and itinerary planning to details on public transport and refreshments

Key marketing points

The guidebook features annotated 1:100,000 OS maps alongside detailed step-by-step route descriptions. Also contains a 1:25,000 scale OS route map in a convenient booklet that can be found in the back cover sleeve.

The route is described in both directions, and features extensions to Maryport on Cumbria's far west coast and South Shields in the east.

About the author

In 1980 Mark Richards began his three-part guide to the Peak District for Cicerone Press, and in 1987, with Chris Wright, wrote a guide to walking around the former county of Westmorland. He now lives in Cumbria and, after 14 years' dedicated research, has completed his series of Lakeland Fellranger guides covering the entire region.
