Short Walks Callander, Aberfoyle and the Trossachs contains 15 of the best short walks in the area, chosen by Katie Featherstone. This compact pocket guide is perfect for those new to walking or to the area and each walk is suitable for everyone to enjoy.

Key marketing points

The guide comes with easy-to-read Ordnance Survey maps, clear route descriptions and lots of images. Also contains information on local beauty spots and refreshment stops. Most walks are under 3 hours in length and range from 4km to 14km. No challenging terrain or complicated navigation; all you'll need to enjoy these walks is a waterproof jacket and trainers. Includes routes accessible from Callander and Aberfoyle without a car.

About the author

Katie is a freelance writer focusing mainly on hiking, history and sustainable travel. She has published a guidebook to the Inner Hebrides, writes articles and walking routes for a number of magazines and newspapers, including The Guardian, Trail, TGO Magazine and The Independent, and is currently working on several walking guidebooks for Cicerone. Living in West Scotland, she enjoys walking and cycling whatever the weather - Loch Lomond and the Trossachs is her nearest national park and somewhere she tries to spend as much time as possible.
