About the author

Andrew McCloy is a writer, journalist and consultant specialising in walking and outdoor recreation and has produced over 20 titles, from family and history rambles to exploring the British coast on foot. An experienced long-distance walker, he wrote the first ever guide to walking from Land's End to John o'Groats and an award-winning profile of the Pennine Way which he walked to mark its 50th anniversary. He's a member of the Outdoor Writers and Photographers Guild, formerly Information Officer for the Ramblers' Association and for 12 years was an elected Parish Member of the Peak District National Park (5 years as Chair). He's currently Walks Programme Manager for YHA (England and Wales) and Chair of the national charity Campaign for National Parks. Andrew is married with two daughters and lives in Derbyshire.
